SINGULAR VINEYARD:

Single-vineyard wines are made to reflect a single truth: that a wine draws its depth and complexity from the unique conditions, soil and micro-climate from which its vines grow. Many factors will affect the profile of the wine, from the soil type and grape variety to the individual micro-climate, sun exposure, aridity and humidity. On a single estate, there can be dozens of idiosyncratic growing areas, each of which can be separated and exalted.

In partnership with Stéphane Derenoncourt, The Bouey Family made a conscious decision to apply this terroir approach and has identified the best single vineyards in several iconic growing appellations around Bordeaux. The wines are made in collaboration with the growers themselves, and are then blended to create wines of supreme elegance and sensuality.

TERROIR:

Parcelle n°9 is the result of a blend made from four plots located on the famous Right Bank. In the heart of Entre-Deux-Mers, halfway between the Garonne and the Dordogne, the parcels extend over two vineyards in the town of Landerrouat. Their soils are mainly composed of clay and they benefit from North-South exposure.

GRAPE VARIETY:

Sauvignon

VINIFICATION & AGEING:

In stainless steel vats for a minimum of 3 months with temperature control (18 °) by thermoregulation.

TASTING:

The nose is intense with lively aromas of citrus and white flowers. We discover the same beautiful and expressive fruity notes on the palate where harmony and complexity emerge. A medium, very pleasant acidity gives leads to a sweet and fresh finish.

ABV: 12,5%
